

Contents

ABOUT THE EDITORS.....	5
ABOUT THE WORKSHOP LEADERS.....	7
INTRODUCTION	9
Karl Donert
Mapping our world and making a difference in and outside the classroom	10
Charles Wielgus Barry
The importance of maps in the teaching of History	20
Charles Wielgus Barry
The necessity of tolerance for educators of History	28
Aleksandra Zaparucha
'See-Think-Wonder' – interdisciplinary lesson on County Kent.....	37
Aleksandra Lenartowicz
Mapping the world – students' projects in bilingual History classes	49
Ewa Jaworska
Improvement of spatial skills with the use of cartographic and statistical methods	57
Iwona Tumidajewicz
Geographic profiling.....	73
Grzegorz Hermanowicz
Bilingual teaching as a tool for multicultural education	80
Małgorzata Mordal
Use of GIS in mapping and identifying geomorphosites as an extension in teaching spatial skills (for example of the Słowiński National Park).....	122
Martijn Kaal
Kilimanjaro and the Mawenzi Secondary School network	125

Tomasz Sojka, Zbigniew Podgórski, Monika Stawska, Przemysław Charzyński Non-educational computer games in bilingual teaching of Geography with the example of SimCity	145
Małgorzata Cichoń The use of selected mobile applications for geography fieldwork	158
Iwona Piotrowska Brain's GPS – not only for geographers	167
Tomasz Jaworski Assessment of the level of deprivation in the Lower City in Gdańsk	178
Richard Bolt Not what they seem: national parks.....	197